RE: False and Misleading Statements in "Wilco"

Dear Broadcasters:

I write on behalf of the Yes On 97 campaign committee to draw your attention to a false and misleading television advertisement opposing Ballot Measure 97, paid for by Defeat the Tax on Oregon Sales ("Defeat") campaign committee. You currently air the advertisement titled "Wilco" on your television stations. A detailed explanation of the false and misleading statements contained in this advertisement follows below. As required by the FCC and the public interest, your station must stop airing this advertisement immediately and refuse to air it in the future.

Defeat's television advertisement claims:

On screen: Measure 97's Tax: Would be highest tax on gross sales in the country. Source: Nonpartisan Tax Foundation

Brenda: But 'measure 97' would require hundreds of Oregon businesses like Wilco to pay the highest tax on sales in the country.

First, Measure 97 is not a "tax on gross sales." Defeat relies upon the Tax Foundation's report "Oregon Measure 97: The threat to Oregon's Tax Climate" to substantiate its claim.¹ The Tax Foundation's report does not use that phrase. Instead, the Tax Foundation compares Measure 97 to gross receipts taxes in several other states. And, the Tax Foundation's report does not conclude that Measure 97 would be the "highest" gross receipts tax in the nation.

It is important to note that the Tax Foundation's report is a selective analysis. For example, the Tax Foundation's report fails to mention New Mexico. New Mexico has a gross receipts tax that “varies throughout the state from 5.125% to 8.6875% depending on the location of the business.”² Meaning, New Mexico has a gross receipts tax that is more than double the rate proposed by Measure 97.

Nonetheless, even within the context of the Tax Foundation report’s selective analysis, the Tax Foundation is still forced to conclude that Measure 97 “would create a gross receipts tax with the highest rate in the country, except for the rate charged on radioactive waste disposal in Washington State.”

In sum, Measure 97 does not create the highest gross receipts tax in the country. New Mexico’s gross receipts tax rate is more than double Measure 97’s proposed rate. And even the Tax Foundation’s report—which does not address New Mexico in its analysis—concludes that Washington has a higher gross receipts tax rate. By any measure, Defeat’s claim is false.

Second, Defeat’s claim that Measure 97 would impose “the highest tax on sales in the country” is false. Defeat provides no support for this claim.

Measure 97 proposes a 2.5% tax on C corporations’ sales over $25,000,000. It is not a sales tax. However, even accepting Defeat’s characterization of it as a sales tax, it would not be the “highest” in the country. At 2.5%, Measure 97 would be dead last in comparison with the 45 states that have a statewide sales tax, according to the Tax Foundation’s report “State and Local Sales Tax Rates, Midyear 2016.”³

No matter how Defeat characterizes Measure 97, whether as a gross receipts tax or, inaccurately, as a sales tax, Measure 97’s 2.5% tax rate is not the “highest” in the country. Defeat’s specific claims in this ad are false.

Defeat does not have a “right to command the use of broadcast facilities.” CBS v. DNC, 412 U.S. 94, 113 (1973). Your station has no obligation to air any advertisements from Defeat. Because your station is not legally required to air this advertisement, your station bears responsibility for the advertisement’s content if the station does air the

RE: Defeat the Tax on Oregon Sales | No on 97

Dear Station Manager:

We represent Defeat the Tax on Oregon Sales.

This letter responds to Nick Kahl's letter dated October 10, 2016, complaining about what he claims are false statements in a television advertisement from Defeat the Tax on Oregon Sales. We address each complaint in sequence. Each complaint is unfounded.

First, Mr. Kahl claims that Measure 97 is not a tax "on sales" or on "gross" sales. Mr. Kahl does not provide any substantiation for this claim because there is none. Measure 97 amends ORS 317.090, which is a tax on "Oregon sales," a tax that, by definition, is a tax on gross sales. A copy of Measure 97 is enclosed for your reference.

Second, Mr. Kahl claims that Measure 97 does not propose the highest tax on sales in the country. Mr. Kahl attempts to substantiate this point through reference to taxes on sales that are markedly different than those in Measure 97. Mr. Kahl is comparing apples to oranges. According to the non-partisan Oregon Legislative Revenue Office, only five states impose a tax on sales as proposed by Measure 97. The rates for those taxes are all below the 2.5% of gross sales tax that Measure 97 proposes. Substantiation for this information can be found here.

Third, neither the Oregon Legislative Revenue Office nor the Tax Foundation addresses the New Mexico taxes Mr. Kahl references because those taxes are not taxes on a corporation's gross sales in the manner that Measure 97 proposes. For example, the New Mexico taxes do not apply to the sale of goods, such as the goods Wilco sells. The New Mexico taxes are also higher in rate only because the total rate combines and stacks rates imposed by the state, as well as counties, and municipalities. Measure 97 is a state tax only.

Finally, the rate of tax in Washington on "Income" from cleaning up radioactive waste is different and irrelevant because it is not a tax on "sales." In addition, the tax is on a specific ultra-hazardous activity, which is separate and apart from the Washington gross receipts tax that is comparable to Measure 97.

The Wilco Farm Stores were created by Oregon farmers. They're not some big corporation.	In the late 1960's, the Wilco Cooperative was formed to aid farming families with stability, integrity and prosperity. Today, Wilco is still a farmer owned cooperative headquartered in the rural town of Mt. Angel, OR http://www.wilco.coop/about-us/
But Measure Ninety Seven would require hundreds of Oregon businesses like Wilco to pay the highest tax on sales in the country.	Measure 97 would establish a new corporate minimum tax for C-Corps and companies filing as C-Corps. This tax would be $30,001 + 2.5% of Oregon sales of goods and services over $25 million. Only five states impose a gross receipts tax, as proposed in Measure 97. The rates are all below Measure 97's 2.5%. It's a tax on gross sales, not profits. They'd have to pay it even if they're losing money.	Measure 97 would establish a new corporate minimum tax for C-Corps and companies filing as C-Corps.
